

A Fun and Effective Reading Program Available to Your School

Values to Action has a tested and effective method of preventing reading failure. The Funnix Beginning Reading web app of instruction enables teaching assistants, volunteers, parents, or even high school students to ensure children learn to read.

Values to Action has been awarded a grant to support a limited number of schools to provide daily tutoring to struggling readers. In the 23-24 school year, we will provide your school:

- The Funnix program at no cost to the school
- Training and coaching of tutors
- Careful assessment of children's reading skill to document their success
- $3,000 to support the school's participation

What people are saying...

“...Funnix has been a perfect intervention tool... Funnix allows the student to manipulate the same stories through computer technology. It is a very friendly program for teachers to use and learn... It is a perfect fit for a child's second dose of skills and strategies.”
— Earnie, Principal

“I started my job in January at an inner-city Sydney K-6 school. Only 130 students but very significant academic and behavioral issues... It has been FANTASTIC!!! The Students are highly motivated and making excellent progress that has transferred to the general classroom setting...”
— Margaret, Teacher

“Since starting this program, our kindergartner has shown tremendous growth in his reading. We have enjoyed the time we get to spend learning together and he loves to read us stories now. His teacher is impressed with his abilities and the program complemented the kindergarten curriculum very well.”
— Kate, Parent

Values to Action, a nonprofit, has been awarded a 2023-2024 Call to Effective Action grant from Accelerate for the next school year to implement effective evidence-based supplemental reading instruction (tutoring). Accelerate, funded by organizations such as Arnold Ventures and the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, was created to help address the growing national achievement gaps. One of Values to Action's programs is Every Child Reads, which uses the Funnix system with positive motivational strategies and helps give children a strong foundation in reading early on in an effort to prevent disparities and help them succeed in school and beyond.
